

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

This is Student Name from India. My attitude of working efficiently within the prescribed time schedule has incorporated in me since my childhood. Good communication, hardworking and commitment to deadlines are some of my traits that has enable me to enhance my personality positively. I have completed my SSC in 2012 from Gnyan Dham High school (CBSE). I had been interested and intrigued by biology and medical sciences since my childhood. I was fascinated about the various techniques and sciences in the world in the biomedical field and have always believed that it is the only field that enables its practitioner to accomplish miracles. Keeping my interests in mind I took up biology stream along with science for my Higher Secondary Education. I finished my higher secondary education in Saraswat International Academy in March of 2014 and secured an overall grade of B2 with an overall percentile rank of 87.74%. The exams were again conducted by the Central Secondary And Higher Secondary Education board (CBSE) .

After finishing up with my Higher Secondary Education I decided to pursue the MBBS Bachelor's degree of medicine from Pacific Medical University, Udaipur.

I pursued my MBBS degree from 2014 to 2019 and gave my final examination in 2019 and also satisfactorily completed the compulsory rotatory internship training as a compulsory one year program as an intern from March 2019 to March 2020. My obtained marks for each year were as follows:

- Year 1: 351/600.
- Year 2: 334/550
- Year 3-Part-1: 213/400
- Year 3-Part-2: 503/900

After finishing up my MBBS course and my internship I have realised where my interests lie in the field of Medical Sciences. Hence now I have decided to pursue the course of Msc psychology from the United Kingdom. As a step towards this direction I decided to give the IELTS examination and secured an overall band score of 6.5 with the individual band scores as follows: listening 7.0, reading 6.0, writing 6.0, speaking 7.0. I will try to improve myself as a student at each and every point while retaining the core positive values that I started with.

Why I want to study in UK ?

I always dreamt of studying in abroad because I realised that having an international degree will help me boost my carrier in a right path and to have a progressive future. Among all the abroad countries, I opt to study Masters in UK because there are lot of scholarships, grants, and bursaries available from British universities or certain institutions that are just for international students. Besides the standard of living is reasonable here compared to other countries. Health care checkups are also negligible as compared to other countries. International Students can choose from over 50,000 courses, in more than 25 subject areas. UK universities invite students from various countries with guaranteed placement opportunities. Hence, UK being multicultural, students overcomes their hesitation to coordinate with their fellow mates and faculties. There higher education degrees and qualifications are recognized by employers and academics worldwide. Besides, the United Kingdom is also known for spearheading research in the medical sciences field. 30% of the United Kingdom universities research are classified as world leading and 46% as internationally excellent by the research excellence framework.

Why Msc. in Psychology?

I had always been interested in the medical field since my childhood. Throughout my MBBS course and my internship, I have realised the importance of the mind in our body. Whatever our mind thinks and in whichever way it reacts shapes our individual personalities and who we are. This has made me interested in the field of psychology and it has increased my curiosity into knowing how the mind actually works and why it behaves the way it does. . Psychology is much more than having a good curriculum. The psychology principles we study enables us to understand the feeling of every individual, how they act and interact and what motivates them. As per my view, learning Psychology augment us by understanding human behaviour in particular, with all its social interaction, communication and language, motivation, emotions, and decision making.it does not just includes random facts instead contains scientific facts. These processes are often vital in order to have a detail vision of the other sciences. Psychology allows you to nourish your relationships more efficiently, and that includes your relationships in your workspace, with friends and with acquaintances and family. With increasing fast-paced lifestyles more and more psychological related problems among human beings are cropping up. Depression and other anxiety and stress caused diseases have never been on such a meteoric rise in the history of human civilization. These trends point to a very daunting fact that matters related to the mind and brain are going to be one of the most important ones in the very near future.

Hence,the study of the mind and behaviour becomes very important to analyse and predict the crucial changes in the mind and the diseases caused by a host of various external and internal factors in a person's life. I want to become a professional in the field of psychology to get a better understanding in the workings of the human mind and to help people live life to the fullest.

Why I want to study MSc. Psychology in London State Bank University ?

I have decided to study Msc in psychology London State Bank University (LSBU) because Besides the British Psychological Society recommends the course structure with the help oh their best practice. Also it is situated in the centre of London, which is known as a core great partnerships with major industries like health, science , finance, arts, culinary, law, education, engineering, architecture, construction etc.The vibrant location of LSBU is served by excellent mainline rail, bus and tube connections for student convenience of travelling. The course and curriculum of LSBU is approved and designed keeping individual learning at prior focus as per the recommendations given by British Psychology Society. LSBU has been rewarded with TEF (SILVER) for their teaching curriculum design. The course curriculum of this university propounds the opportunity to undertake placements and internships. Before and after graduation our Employability Service offered by the university during the course program and afterwards inculcates interview cracking technics in the students along with a practical experience to the students. The course at LSBU is accredited by the best British Psychological Society which enhances the value of degree from LSBU. The eye tracking facility at the labs assist in observation as well.

The content of LSBU modules includes Human behavioural study in detail .i.e. emotion, perception, attention and memory as well with the help of unconventional methods of studies like research, essay, case studies, reports, preparation of presentation and posters by students. The contents given in LSBU modules of psychology are explored from experts perspectives for better understanding of human psychological effects. The module of “Emotion and human behaviour” covers the interdependence or link between human behaviour and their cognitive feelings. The “perception, attention and memory” explains about the development of these three themes right from the childhood. Besides range of quantitative and qualitative methods are also introduce in module “psychological research” for practical understanding of the diagnosis methods use by psychologists. Also the counter reaction of one human in presence of implied human or real one can be studied in “social behaviour” module. Hence, after gaining the practical as well as theoretical knowledge and training from the expert faculties with the help of detailed modules will enhance my capabilities further.

HOW DOES THIS COURSE RELATE TO PREVIOUS STUDIES?

In my MBBS course, I was taught about various subjects and fields related to medicine and its practice. But through my MBBS degree and internship I started developing an avid interest in psychology. The college that I pursued my degree from is attached with a 900 bedded multispeciality tertiary level health care centre with state-of-the-art equipment and infrastructure. Pursuing this course from a place where I could observe its practical application gave me a huge advantage as it was here that I was able to develop an interest in psychology. I observed how the mental states of the patients affected them in their recovery process and how a pessimistic and an optimistic attitude could make the difference between life and death. This made me realise the immense importance of psychology and the control that our mind has on our body.

It is very important to learn how the mind operates as in this fast paced world new and dangerous psychological related problems are cropping up by the day. This motivated me to pursue the course of MSc in psychology. I believe after pursuing this course I will be having the right knowledge needed to practice my skills in the field and help people uplift themselves mentally

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

After returning back to my native country, I am planning to open my own clinic. Through the knowledge of Psychology study my future goal is to make positive and constructive changes in the life of people becoming a Professional Psychologist which will give a reason to live their life peacefully and positively. When people will be able to change the way of living life with my assistance in a positive way, I will be the most satisfied doctor. Through my knowledge gained at the University along with my research of human behaviour, I will try to offer to improvise the treatment and diagnosis of these disorders. Depression, stress and anxiety are one of the most common problems of an unhealthy mind and are cropping up almost everywhere as the general pace of life has increased. India is facing the same problems. I want to help my country and its citizens and want to actually understand and study so that I can make a significant impact. The average starting salary for a psychologist in India is about 3 to 4 lakh per annum and increases with experience.

With this I would like to conclude my statement and would like to thank you for having the time to go through it. I look forward for the acceptance in this University and I will definitely give best of my efforts to give justice for my selection in this university.
